CHANGES IN PENSIONERS' BENEFITS

Committee Said to Favor Substantial Increases in Scale.

NO DETAILS YET
Stop Out Because of Augmented Incomes Expected.

Ottawa, May 2.—The deliberations of the special committee on Pensions are being watched with interest by pensioners in all parts of Canada, for the question of continuing the present bonus to pensioners, and also the matter of readjustment of the pension scale, are being thoroughly gone into. The committee hopes to draft a report, but will keep the details secret until it has finished investigating re-establishment.

There is an expectation, however, that the report from the committee to the House of Commons will recommend a general increase in pensions, with amendments to the act about half way between the proposals of the G. W. V. A. and the Pension Commissioners. From various sources the committee has been advised that an increase of 25 per cent. is necessary if pensioners are to be saved from hardship, and many members of the committee seem to favor such increase.

To overcome hardship in the case of widowed mothers, whose pensions are being reduced because of other income, the committee is expected to make some provision that there shall be no reduction, whatever may be earned or derived from other sources. Many instances have been given where widowed mothers and other aged dependents of soldiers were suffering through a too strict interpretation of the present clause of the act, and members of the committee seem to be generally of the opinion that these deductions are penalizing.

The extension of the act of widows to disability to tubercular and major amputation cases has been urged on the committee. In order to reach a decision on this point careful examination is being made of the figures of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment to see what such additions would cost the country.

Some clauses are also expected in the act in regard to the "due to service" clause, which is a source of anxiety and affects pensions for aggravation of a disability. These are necessary during the war, and have been given a certain measure of life insurance, and pension was paid on a disability incurred while on service.

In some cases a man became eligible for pension through a disability which might as easily have occurred had he still been a civilian. It is expected that a disability will have been attributed to service before any pension is paid.

Members of the committee feel quite strongly on the clause which deals with the "due to service" clause. It is being pointed out to him after the appearance of his disability, which would be subject to too strict interpretation.

The Board to fix a permanent disability after three years had met with strenuous objection, for it is claimed in some cases that a man's disability may be such a "stand-still" that it could be classed as permanent. However, if any change to this clause is made, it is believed there will be added a clause which would allow the pensioner the right to appeal to the Government at any time his disability increased.

The fully expected increase of 10 per cent. is also creating much discussion. If any provision for such an increase is made, the rate of commutation is expected to be reduced to men with disabilities up to 10 per cent. This would bring the Canadian Act more on a footing with the United States Act, though Pension Board officials have stated that a man with less than 10 per cent. disability would not receive a pension. In any such clause which may be inserted in the act, the Government will be making a voluntary reduction, which will have the right to return for further claim in the event of his disability increasing or a new disability making its appearance.

In the event of such further claim being made, a deduction would probably be made on account of the increase in such disability, or the pensioner through the commutation of his former pension claim against the Government, which has been strongly urged upon the committee by some of the pensioners.

A change is also possible in the act of pensioners in the case of those who incurred death or disability through no accident. At the present time such disability or death is not pensionable, and in the case of the greater number of pensioners are in this class, as also are the pensioners who were in the army during the war.

However, members of the committee seem to be of the opinion that children should not be "allowed to become a burden on the state" and strain and in an entirely new environment, affixed in his duty at the time of the act, it is expected, would be able to cover the dependents of men.

DENMARK MOURNS CROWN PRINCESS

Gonnaught's Daughter's Death Was Very Sudden.

A Result of General Blood Poisoning.

Stockholm, May 2.—The entire nation has been plunged into mourning by the death yesterday of Crown Princess Gustave Adolph, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, and this was followed by a very early and complicated system.

"Persons able to transmit messages from the other world must be specially psychic. They must also have the willingness to allow their bodies to be used by the spirits of the dead." The Crown Princess was able to be up Saturday morning, but suffered a sudden change for the worse and died within a few hours. Weakness of the heart, augmented by the Crown Princess' emotional motherhood, was given as the chief cause of her death.

Before her marriage the Crown Princess was Princess Margaret of Connaught. She was born in 1882, and married the Duke of Connaught in 1905. They had four boys and a girl.

The Princess was often termed the "Tom Boy" of the Royal Family, because of her fondness of outdoor life. There were three sons, Prince Rupert, Prince George, and Prince Edward, who were all killed in the war.

SIR OLIVER LODGE

Fashionable Audience Will Greet Scientist.

Sir Oliver Lodge, the distinguished British scientist, who is to lecture in Hamilton on Friday evening, has made a careful study of the peculiar magnetic faculty which apparently enables certain persons to transmit messages from the spirit world.

"The human body," says Sir Oliver, "is really a sort of wireless station, which receives communications through air waves, conveys them to the mind, and then by means of speech or writing conveys this knowledge from one mind to another."

"Persons able to transmit messages from the other world must be specially psychic. They must also have the willingness to allow their bodies to be used by the spirits of the dead." The Crown Princess was able to be up Saturday morning, but suffered a sudden change for the worse and died within a few hours.

quality of communication, just as some people have the faculty for portrait painting or modelling in clay. It is a faculty that can never be acquired artificially. LICENSES FOR WINES AND NATIVE

Standard Hotels and Native Wine Makers

Get Extensions Until First of June.

Toronto, May 2.—Pending any legislation which may be brought down in the Legislature, the License Board has extended for one month the licenses allowing the manufacture of native wine and the licenses for standard hotels.

These licenses expired on May 1. Without change in any of them, the time has now been extended until June 1. It is thought that such action is to avoid any complication in effecting any new legislation. No mention of native wine is made in any proposed legislation so far in the Legislature. The County Bill leaves it as it has been since prohibition became effective under the old order in Council and the Ontario Temperance Act. There has been no call to the Legislature to change the system of licensing standard hotels.

If there is no change affecting either the standard hotels or the native wine licenses, the License Board will renew the licenses in the usual way, and enforce the law as it has done in the past. The export liquor houses are still in the business, although the persons on premises, which the Government says is the limit of its control, have been once extended. There is no objection to the Government touching export liquor, nor is there any Dominion law in sight, except the law of the Province in the Dominion stop importation, there will be no market in this country for Ontario liquor, and importation will cease.

MAY DAY IN EUROPE WAS NOT TOO BAD

The Strike in France Declared to Be a Failure So Far.

MORE OUT-OF-DATE

Other Countries Had Demonstrations, but Little Trouble.

Paris, May 2.—The strike of the railroad men for nationalization of the railways, which is to be continued to-morrow by the miners and other men, has resulted thus far in a strike of traffic only on four of the big systems—the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean. Temporarily, however, the state line, which runs from Paris to the north, has been closed.

The strike is a complete failure of the French workers, to-day. Service on all lines was called off by the Parisian forces were operating on the system, which cancelled all trains from the capital. The Government determination to fight the strike has been a success. The strike has been a failure. The strike has been a failure. The strike has been a failure.

Seed-Growing in the Okanagan

The Okanagan Valley Has Many Beautiful Scenes. This is Penticton.

During the war the seed supply in Canada was thought to be very low and the Agricultural Experiment Stations were asked to make a survey of the seed industry. Through the efforts of the various stations, farmers were educated and interested in this class of work to such an extent that many of them have now taken up seed-growing as part of their work. The eastern provinces have given special attention to the results in the Okanagan valley in British Columbia, which is especially adapted, with its great diversity of soil, for seed growing. The "grow-in-Canada" idea also makes a strong appeal. Mr. R. H. Helmer, Superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Summerland, has extensively promoted the industry. The special function of the Experimental Station is to grow seed from selected roots to supply seed-growers. The Summerland station will grow two varieties of each root crop, will avoid crossing and will reverse the crop each year. To guard against cross fertilization, each district is selecting one variety of manure, carrot, turnip and various standard vegetables. It is hoped by the means to obtain a pure strain of each. This station has met with fine results in the growing of mangel-wurzel, carrots, swiss-chard, corn, cabbage, celery, peppers, tomatoes, beans, peas, cucumbers, water-melons, musk-melons, marrow, parsley, alfalfa, clover, timothy and other, grasses, soy beans, parsnips, potatoes, certified grains and numerous varieties of flowers. It was found that flower seeds which were hard to mature in most climates were harvested with ease at the Okanagan station. These seeds were distributed to the various farms of Canada and have received special recognition. The fields have been large—mangels have run from 1,000 to 2,500 pounds per acre, sweet corn 2,000 to 3,000 lbs per acre, muskmelons, 600 pounds, tomatoes 400 pounds, carrots 800 to 1,200 pounds, beans 1,000 to 1,200 pounds, cabbage 300 to 800 pounds. Tomato seed from this farm sold as high as eleven dollars an ounce. Mr. Helmer stated that it was hoped, by producing seed of guaranteed quality and variety, to build up an industry that would pay the grower and give the farmers of other provinces confidence in Canadian grown seed as superior to imported seed of unknown origin and quality. "All eastern men who have visited the district," stated Mr. Helmer, "say that our plants throw more seed than in the east and our harvest weather is ideal for seed work."

growers towards the production of seeds of high germination are the commercial advantage and the elimination of poor seeds. They aim to sell the seeds on a co-operative basis direct to the grower and the trade. This organization takes the roughly cleaned seed, reviews it for quality and germination and the finished seeds are stored in the Penticton warehouse. The dry climate makes this centre most suitable for the purpose.

To finance this organization seed has been subscribed all over the province to the extent of about $10,000 and is held mainly by seed-growers. Approximately 250,000 pounds of seed will be put on the market in British Columbia this summer.

League at Victoria Park on Saturday afternoon and despite the fact that other conditions were far from being ideal, the game was a success. Over a thousand fans found their way to the corner end park to see the amateurs in action. The first inning was the corner lot variety was dialed up in the first inning. The weather conditions didn't consideration little more could have been expected. The second inning was a little better. The diamond all afternoon, the whistling and the cheering of the fans and players alike, especially the latter, who did not feel inclined to dish up any more of the "hot" variety of the pastime. The pitchers were afraid to throw the ball, and the batters were on a straight fast one and good support.

Westinghouse, the new entrant, from the south, was the only one to show up behind in the sixth frame. The Victoria Club by a 4 to 2 count. Many of the spectators were seen showing and gave the fans to understand that the game was not game performed by Controller Davis, who was the only one to get a hit. M.P.P. Harvesters and Tigers got down to battle, the former being on top in the first two innings. In the third, Manager Bradley furnished the first hit for the home team, while Manager McLeod relied on field and both men did good work in the fourth and fifth. In the sixth, Harvesters by the way look like they are going to have a very good season. Bradley boasted in the last season that Hoyer at thirdbase have not lost a game in 1910. He is now a first baseman with the bluebirds, and his work has been excellent. In the seventh, he played an important part in the victory. The home team was on top in the eighth, but the visitors were not while not so much of a stickler looks like.

Tigers were first to bat in this game and one hit coupled with two errors and a walk in the opening inning got the offense started. Precious went out via the home run, the strikeout route, but Morris after having two and nothing singled home the winning run.
